Welcome to St. Landry Parish

Bienvenue à la paroisse de Saint Landry

Feel like a local in St. Landry Parish, a rural-heritage destination with a rich history and a people who will find any excuse to celebrate life!

With festivities that celebrate art, Cajun and zydeco music, crawfish étouffée, Mardi Gras, and sweet dough pies, you will certainly experience joie de vivre, Louisiana style.

The area's vibrant traditions come from the diverse people who have called it home. Acadian, Creole, French, African, Spanish, German, Italian, and Native American people have influenced our way of life for almost three centuries. Today, you will meet folks who still speak Louisiana French, young musicians performing traditional Cajun and Creole music, and families who have been doing "farm to table" before it was cool.

We invite you to begin your visit in St. Landry Parish at the St. Landry Parish Visitor Center. Located at Exit 23 on Interstate 49, the facility is one of the first sustainably designed centers in the country. By utilizing both old and new practices in its construction, this award-winning structure is welcoming and a great way to introduce visitors to this region of Louisiana. The Center is open Monday through Saturday from 9AM-5PM and offers free coffee, WiFi, and of course, the most up-to-date information about things to do and see in St. Landry Parish.

Crawfish Étouffée

- | | | |
|---------------------------------|-------------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| 1 stick real butter | 1 tbsp minced garlic | 3 pinches of cayenne pepper |
| 2 cups chopped onion | 2 bay leaves | ¼ tsp white pepper |
| 1 cup chopped celery | 1 tbsp flour | 1 tsp hot sauce |
| ½ cup chopped green bell pepper | 1 cup warm seafood or chicken stock | 2 tbsp finely chopped parsley |
| 1 lb. peeled crawfish tails | 1 ½ tsp salt | 3 tbsp chopped green onion |

Melt the butter in a large sauté pan over medium-high heat. Add onions, celery, and bell pepper and sauté until vegetables are wilted, about 10-12 minutes. Add the crawfish, garlic, and bay leaves and reduce heat to medium. Cook for 10-12 minutes stirring occasionally. Dissolve the flour in the warm stock and add to the mixture. Season with salt and cayenne and stir until the mixture thickens, about 5 minutes. Stir in the parsley and green onions and continue cooking for 2 minutes. Serve over Prairie Ronde Rice (a St. Landry Parish product). *Crawfish tails can be substituted with peeled shrimp (40/50 count)

Parlez-vous Français?

Evidence of our French heritage is everywhere you look, from our visitors guide en français, signs, newspapers, and menus to everyday phrases and surnames, French culture and language are on full display here. Throughout the parish, it's very common to still hear both Cajun and Creole French being spoken.

French programs are available on local radio stations, like Bonjour Louisiane, weekday mornings on KRVS 88.7FM and "Tea Cajun" Sterling Burleigh Saturday mornings on KBON 101.1FM.

Arnaudville is also home to NUNU Arts & Culture Collective, which has been designated one of 12 "French Corners" in the United States.

Several towns in St. Landry Parish are part of the Francophone and Francophile Cities Network, which is a network of cities across North America that create trails for travelers interested in knowing more about French language and culture.

La Table Française gatherings are held throughout the parish, where locals share conversation en français over a cup of coffee. Young and old, tourists, and non-French speakers are all welcome to join in.

While browsing CajunTravel.com, look for the phrase "Ici on parle français" or French is spoken here.

ST. LANDRY PARISH Spiritual Trail

Travelers flock to this area in search of the site of a miracle, a floating eucharistic procession on the bayou, and traiteurs or “faith healers”. We can thank the people who settled here for these diverse beliefs and rituals. They brought with them their own style of worship, creating an area with varied denominations.

In fact, Opelousas is home to one of the oldest African American churches in Louisiana, Little Zion Baptist Church, and the oldest Methodist church congregation west of the Mississippi River, Louisiana Memorial United Methodist Church. The town is also home to Holy Ghost Catholic Church, which boasts one of the largest Catholic congregations of African Americans in the U.S. The church has a phenomenal gospel choir which performs every Sunday at 11am Mass.

While visiting Opelousas, stop by St. Landry Catholic Church. There you'll find the Father Lafleur Monument, an original sculpture in honor of this WWII POW's heroic last moments aboard a scuttled ship. Also, visit the church cemetery in October for historic reenactments and tours.

St. Landry Parish is also noted for its many historic Catholic institutions, especially in the town of Grand Coteau. Here, travelers report an indescribable peacefulness. That feeling may have a lot to do with the Shrine of St. John Berchmans at The Academy of the Sacred Heart, the site of one of the only documented miracles in the U.S.

Continue your tour of Grand Coteau at the St. Charles Borromeo Catholic Church, noted for its very large collection of religious art. While visiting, make time to see the St. Charles Cemetery. This hallowed ground is the resting place of many Jesuit priests.

This is just a small sample of the trail. For the full itinerary, visit CajunTravel.com. While on our website, don't forget to sign up for the Spiritual Trail Passport. When you visit many of the places on the itinerary, you can earn points to win prizes designed by local artist, Hannah Gumbo.

ARNAUDVILLE

“Cultural economy” is not just a buzz phrase to this town of 1,400 residents located at the junction of Bayou Teche and Bayou Fuselier. In recent years, Arnaudville is a haven for artists, musicians, and champions of the French language. Through a partnership with the French Consulate in New Orleans as well as with France, Canada, and Haiti, an exchange of ideas and business practices has enhanced the residents' way of life and the economy of Arnaudville.

Every April, Arnaudville hosts the Étouffée Festival.

Residents and visitors can enjoy coffee and conversation en français at a French Table (see pg. 5).

CANKTON

Cankton, in the Coulee Croche area of St. Landry Parish, takes its name from Dr. Louis Aristide Guidry, who was also known as "Cank." An avid hunter as a boy, Guidry would signal his family that he was home from a hunt with a duck call, "Cank, cank, cank." His folks would say, "Cank est revenu," (Cank is back) and the name stuck.

EUNICE

Known as the "Prairie Cajun Capital," Eunice is popular for its Mardi Gras tradition—Courir de Mardi Gras (see pg. 17). Visit the Jean Lafitte National Park & Preserve Prairie Acadian Cultural Center, an interpretive center for all ages. Here, exhibits focus on the history of the Acadians and how they shaped our culture on the prairie. Musical performances, cooking demos, workshops and more are offered. Just next door is the historic Liberty Theatre, where for more than 30 years, thousands have flocked to the live radio and TV show, "Rendez-vous des Cajuns," held every Saturday night and emceed in Cajun French and English. Ongoing theater renovations will have dancers waltzing and two-stepping again soon.

Other stops on your music tour can include the downtown radio station, KBON 101.1 FM, that highlights Cajun, zydeco, and swamp pop artists. Check out the wall with signatures of music legends. Make time to visit the Cajun French Music Hall of Fame & Museum to see the past and present of Cajun music. Also include on your itinerary a jam session at Savoy Music Center, owned by a family whose lives are built around the accordion, their heritage, and music.

GRAND COTEAU

Grand Coteau, French for big ridge, rests on what was the west bank of the Mississippi River some 2,000 years ago. It was settled in 1776 and became home to Acadian, Creole, Irish, and German immigrants.

The town is one of the primarily few rural districts on the National Register of Historic Places with more than 70 structures designated as architecturally significant. Several of these structures have been repurposed and house antique shops, kitchen shops, and coffee houses. Grand Coteau is also noted for its magnificent trees that form alleys, groves, and gardens.

For 200 years, Catholicism and Grand Coteau have been deeply connected with the establishment of the Academy of the Sacred Heart. The academy also houses the Shrine of St. John Berchmans, one of the only documented miracles in the U.S. Along with the church and retreat centers, spiritual and educational guidance is extended to the local community and visitors from afar.

The town hosts four major events each year: Creole Culture Day (October), Sweet Dough Pie Festival (October), Festival of Words (November), and Grand Noel (November).

KROTZ SPRINGS

Krotz Springs, also known as the “Mile of Boudin” for its popular vendors, was named after Ohio native and sawmill owner, C. W. Krotz. Krotz put down the first oil well in St. Landry Parish but struck water instead of oil, so the town formerly known as Lantania became Krotz Springs. Situated on the Atchafalaya River, Krotz Springs is a port and refinery center handling almost three million tons of liquid and dry bulk cargo, such as oil and grain. The town is also a gateway to the outdoors with the 40,000-acre Sherburne Wildlife Management Area along its eastern border. Outdoor enthusiasts can also access a 28,000-acre area in the Atchafalaya Basin, Indian Bayou, perfect for hunting and fishing. North of Highway 190, on Highway 105, is the Teche Vermillion Pumping Station. The station is responsible for the healthy water levels and water quality of our bayous. They monitor the water flow and prevent further debris from entering our waterways.

Cajun, Creole Mardi Gras

The first Catholic pastor, Fr. Leon Mailluchet, named this village after St. Leon. Nestled between Opelousas and Arnaudville, along Bayou Teche, Leonville's public boat launch makes a great starting point for a paddle down this historic waterway. It's also a perfect stopping point for cyclists pedaling on the Zydeco Cajun Prairie Scenic Byway (Hwy 31). The Bayou Teche is maintained by T.E.C.H.E. Project (TecheProject.com), and is a National Water Trail.

Wed-Thurs 10AM-9PM; Fri-Sat 10AM-10:30PM; Sun 10AM-3PM
Visit this historic landmark located on the Bayou Teche. Enjoy Cajun-Asian fusion cuisine - Cajun-style sushi and hibachi, plus Louisiana classics like crab cakes, poboys, and gumbo. See Facebook for live music schedule.

Here, Mardi Gras is not your typical festival with floats, beads and doubloons. Instead, for the Courir de Mardi Gras, locals trade floats for horses, beads for bells, and crowded streets for country roads.

You can participate in this fascinating, century-old celebration in Eunice, Louisiana. The courir or "run" puts costumed revelers on foot or on horseback in search of items to contribute to the community gumbo. Those seeking a little adventure can give it a shot in the chicken chase, which for some, is a Mardi Gras rite of passage.

Don't forget the costume! The traditional mask and a tall hat called a capuchon are required, but you can add your own creative flair.

The festivities don't start and end there. In fact, it is a five-day long event that begins Friday and ends with the courir on Mardi Gras day. The remaining days are filled with Cajun traditions, such as jam sessions, street dances, cooking demos, a traditional boucherie, and Lil' Mardi Gras, a run held on Sunday for children ages 0-14.

Additional festivities include:

Opelousas Mardi Gras Celebration
Sunset Mardi Gras Parade
Lundi Gras Boucherie
Cankton Chicken Run
Lebeau Chicken Run
Keith Frank's Zyde Gras on the Square

When is Mardi Gras?

ST. LANDRY

PARISH • LA

Gumbo for Your Soul!

Travel the Zydeco-Cajun Prairie Scenic Byway, a music-heavy trail that traverses three parishes – St. Landry, Acadia, and Evangeline. These regions are responsible for three distinct musical sounds – Cajun, zydeco, and swamp pop.

Don't change that station!

Let KBON 101.1 be the soundtrack for the Bayou Teche Corridor. Part of the Atchafalaya National Heritage Area, this corridor traces historic Bayou Teche, a 135-mile bayou flowing from its head in Port Barre down to its mouth in Berwick. This bayou is now recognized as a National Water Trail featuring 13 established access points for paddle trips.

AMÉDÉ ARDOIN COMMEMORATIVE

OPELOUSAS

Amédé Ardoin (1898-1942) was one of the earliest French-speaking Creole musicians to commercially record his songs and the first to build a library of over 30 recordings with national labels. He is widely regarded as the bedrock of today's Cajun and Creole music. The Amédé Ardoin Commemorative was inspired by the Ardoin family's efforts to bring him home from his burial place in an unmarked grave at the Central Louisiana Hospital. The memorial, a 1,500-pound steel statue, displays Ardoin standing high atop his most prized possession, his accordion. In his right hand he holds out a bronze lemon, a reference to Ardoin's practice of carrying a lemon in his pocket for his singing voice.

View the memorial statue at the St. Landry Parish Visitor Center located at Exit 23 on Interstate 49.

Founded in 1720, Opelousas is Louisiana's third oldest city. Take a walk through downtown and see original architecture, historic homes, and public art. Some of the parish's oldest buildings have been restored at Le Vieux Village Heritage Park. There, you will also find the Louisiana Orphan Train Museum, one of only two museums in the U.S. that tells the story of the New York Foundling Hospital orphans.

As the Zydeco Music Capital of the World, Opelousas is home to Grammy winners, Clifton Chenier and Terrance Simien. Learn more about these and other zydeco musicians at the Zydeco Music Exhibit, on display at the village.

On the second and third weekends of October, the parish's "older" residents come back to life. See and hear their stories during the St. Landry Catholic Church Cemetery Tours.

Local restaurants today are still influenced by Opelousas natives, the late culinary great, Chef Paul Prudhomme, and seasoning entrepreneur, Tony Chachere. With local eateries still open since the 30's, you can enjoy recipes that are tried and true!

Located on Hwy. 10, between Melville and Hwy. 71, the small town of Palmetto earned its name from the native plant that grows in the area. Before a sign was made for the train depot, fronds of the palmetto plant were nailed to the building. The spirit of early Palmetto is still felt at the community's general store, Budden's, which has been open since the 1930s. On the first Saturday in July, thousands head to nearby Lebeau for the annual Zydeco Festival. A popular time for family reunions and fun.

Taste your way through St. Landry Parish with the Allons Manger! passport

Try the best Cajun and Creole restaurants, fried chicken icons, upscale dining, boudin stops and specialty meat locations to earn points and win prizes. You can also enjoy exclusive discounts at participating restaurants. Get the passport on your phone via text or email, and make sure you're on site to check in at each location. Once you have enough points saved up, redeem the prize of your choice. It's the perfect excuse to try all the great food you can find in St. Landry Parish.

PORT BARRE

Port Barre is the birthplace of Bayou Teche. Settled as a French trading post in the early 1800s, Port Barre sits at the point where Bayou Courtableau flows into the Teche.

In October, hundreds gather for Tour du Teche, a 135-mile staged marathon for canoes and kayaks of all sizes. The course is the length of the bayou, from Port Barre to Berwick. The race snakes through St. Landry, St. Martin, Iberia, and St. Mary parishes.

Built up an appetite? Then pick up a jalapeño-sausage-cheese bread, the town's most famous culinary export. In November, cracklins take center stage at the Port Barre Cracklin Festival.

SUNSET

Legend has it that in the late 1800s, railroad workers gave Sunset its name. The workers named new train stops as they reached them and apparently arrived here at sunset. Today, Sunset is known as the Rub-board Capital of the World with a thriving arts community. Historic buildings have been revived into shops for antiques, collectibles, and local handcrafted items. For those with a green thumb, visit in May for the Herb & Garden Festival.

WASHINGTON

Washington, first named Church Landing, was the site of the first Catholic Church (built in 1770) in St. Landry Parish. Located on Bayou Courtableau, and a thriving steamboat town in the 1800s, Washington served as the largest port between New Orleans and St. Louis. Steamers worked their way through a maze of bayous and rivers to carry cargo to and from New Orleans.

Today, antique lovers can spend hours browsing treasures at the numerous shops along Main Street. The Old Schoolhouse Antique Mall, a former high school built in 1934, houses more than 100 antique dealers. On the second weekend in April and October, the Semi-Annual Antique Fair & Yard Sale is held on site, attracting thousands of shoppers.

Much of the original town is included in the Washington Historic District, which is on the National Register of Historic Places. Its homes, cottages, warehouses, and other buildings from those steamboat days are still standing, serving as restaurants, bed and breakfasts, and shops.

Washington has become a desirable wedding destination, with its historic venues and churches that provide quaint settings and charming backdrops for that special day. The significance of the town's original architecture was recognized in 2017, as the Louisiana Trust for Historic Preservation, chose Washington as the site of its annual Fall Ramble.

Birding

Birders have a lot to explore across the coastal prairie, upland hardwood, and bottomland hardwood habitats of St. Landry Parish. These ecosystems, along with the iconic wetlands of the Atchafalaya Basin, provide sanctuary for over 200 species of birds.

During winter, waterfowl like snow geese and ducks migrate down from their snowy homelands by the thousands. In Spring, beautifully colored neotropical songbirds make their way into the area.

THE KING OF ZYDECO

June 25, 2025 was a special day in St. Landry Parish and beyond. The date marks 100 years since the birth of Clifton Chenier, the King of Zydeco.

Born near Leonville, Chenier transported the Creole accordion music of his rural roots to stages that stretched from “Austin City Limits” on PBS to clubs and festivals across the United States and Europe. Chenier’s “I’m Here” album earned a Grammy in 1983.

In 2011, Chenier’s “Bogalusa Boogie” album was inducted into the Grammy Hall of Fame. The Library of Congress preserved the album in its National Recording Registry as a “culturally, historically or significant” work.

The Recording Academy awarded Chenier its prestigious Grammy Lifetime Achievement Award in 2014. Chenier’s legacy was celebrated with a tribute album, statue and music events for his centennial in 2025.

KING OF ZYDECO TRIBUTES

- Rolling Stone Mick Jagger, who described Chenier as a “great influence,” said, “I love the way he just grabs a blues number and adapts it to his style.”
- June 25 is Clifton Chenier Day in the city of Opelousas, St. Landry Parish and the Louisiana State Legislature.
- Chenier received a 1984 National Heritage Fellowship, considered the nation’s highest honor for folk and traditional arts.
- Chenier was the honoree of the 2023 Festivals Acadiens et Creoles in Lafayette. Chenier performed at the first festival in 1974.
- C. J. Chenier has continued his father’s Red Hot Louisiana Band since his passing Dec. 12, 1987.
